Damita Brown to lead the Office of Diversity and Inclusion

Columbus Mayor Andrew J. Ginther recently announced that he has appointed Damita Brown as Chief Diversity Officer in the Office of Diversity and Inclusion.

Ginther said that Beverly Stallings-Johnson has accepted a position at Wendy's. Her last day with the city was Friday, March 12.

"Damita is particularly suited to take on the role of Chief Diversity Officer," said Mayor Ginther. "She has shepherded the Disparity Study through every step and has been key to keeping minority participation at record levels on many projects including the new Crew stadium. The community has faith and trust in Damita, and so do I."

Brown has been with the Office of Diversity and Inclusion since 2016, serving as deputy director and interim director. Before coming to the city, she was a vice president for supplier diversity with Huntington Bank and has also worked for the Columbus Regional Airport Authority and the United Way of Central Ohio.

"I am grateful to Beverly for her service to our city. Thanks to her leadership, even during the tumultuous last year, we were able to support small, women and minority owned businesses by streamlining our internal processes, connecting them with financial resources and technical assistance, and forging innovative new partnerships," Mayor Ginther continued. "I wish her great success as the new Vice President and Chief Diversity Officer for Wendy's Worldwide."

Brown holds a master's degree in public administration from The Ohio State University and a bachelor's degree in political science, history and ethnic studies from Capital University. She is in the OhioMBE Hall of Fame.

"I am thrilled to lead the Office of Diversity and Inclusion to help the city address some of its toughest challenges," said Brown. "I appreciate Mayor Ginther's confidence in me and look forward to making a lasting difference in how the city addresses minority and gender participation in supplier contracts and the workplace."

Ginther created the Office of Diversity and Inclusion during his first term in office.

Rep. Jarrells to introduce legislation that will remove derogatory terminology in the Ohio Revised Code

Says all Ohioans should be treated with kindness, dignity, and respect

COLUMBUS—Rep. Dontavius L. Jarrells (D-Columbus) will be introducing legislation removing additional derogatory language within the state’s code. This legislation will be continuation of the work started by House Bill 158 in the 131st General Assembly, which replaced references to “mentally retarded person” in the Ohio Revised Code.

Currently, Ohio Revised Code still includes language such as “idiot,” “deaf and dumb,” “mentally retarded,” “lunatics,” “mental defective,” “crippled child/children,” “derangement,” and “handicapped.”

“These antiquated terms are rooted in historical trauma, resulting in unnecessary harm for people with disabilities, their families, and advocacy organizations,” said Rep. Jarrells. “All Ohioans deserve to be treated with kindness, dignity, and respect. This legislation ensures the Ohio Revised Code reflects those values,” Rep. Jarrells explained.

This legislation will replace terms related to people with disabilities and updates statutory provisions relating to assistance dogs, braille teacher standards, the Children with Medical Handicaps Program, and accessible parking spaces.

The implementation of this bill could not have happened without the collaboration and support from advocates in the disability, deaf, mental health, and victim services communities:

- Mental Health America of Ohio
- National Alliance on Mental Illness Ohio
- Ohio Association of County Behavioral Health Authorities

Happy Black History Month!

By Ronda Watson Barber

The recent state Girl's Division I Basketball State championship was EPIC! My hometown Newark Lady Wildcats proudly represented. The on the court battle against Cincinnati Mount Notre Dame was legendary. These lady hoopsters got game. There were cross-overs, blocked shots, steals, and three-pointers were raining during the double-overtime 57-55 game won by the MND Cougars.

While the ladies were displaying their skills, leadership, and talents on the court, I didn't observe women in leadership on the sidelines. Both teams were coached by men, men officiated the game and men oversee the high school athletic programs.

I penned a letter to the Ohio High School Athletic Association. I have questions:

1. Why were men officiating the girls' final?
2. Have any women been officiating any boys' top tournament games? If so, how many?
3. Are there any women that coach boys' high school basketball teams in Ohio?
4. How many men lead girl's basketball programs?
5. How many women lead girls' basketball programs?
6. How many athletic programs are led by women?
7. What is the OHSAA doing to foster an environment for women to coach and officiate girls sports?

Title IX of the education amendments was enacted into law in 1972. Title IX prohibits sex discrimination in any educational program or activity receiving any type of federal financial funding.

What are local school boards and universities doing to create a pipeline for women to become leaders on the sidelines? Almost fifty years since the signing of this federal law, why aren't there more women coaching women and girls? Why aren't there more women athletic directors? What message does this

3 Ways to Protect Your Credit During The Pandemic

By Kenya Mays

It has been almost a year of living through this pandemic. Many have lost jobs, homes and their normal way of life. Throughout all of the changes that COVID-19 has presented, one thing that has remained important is your credit matters. .

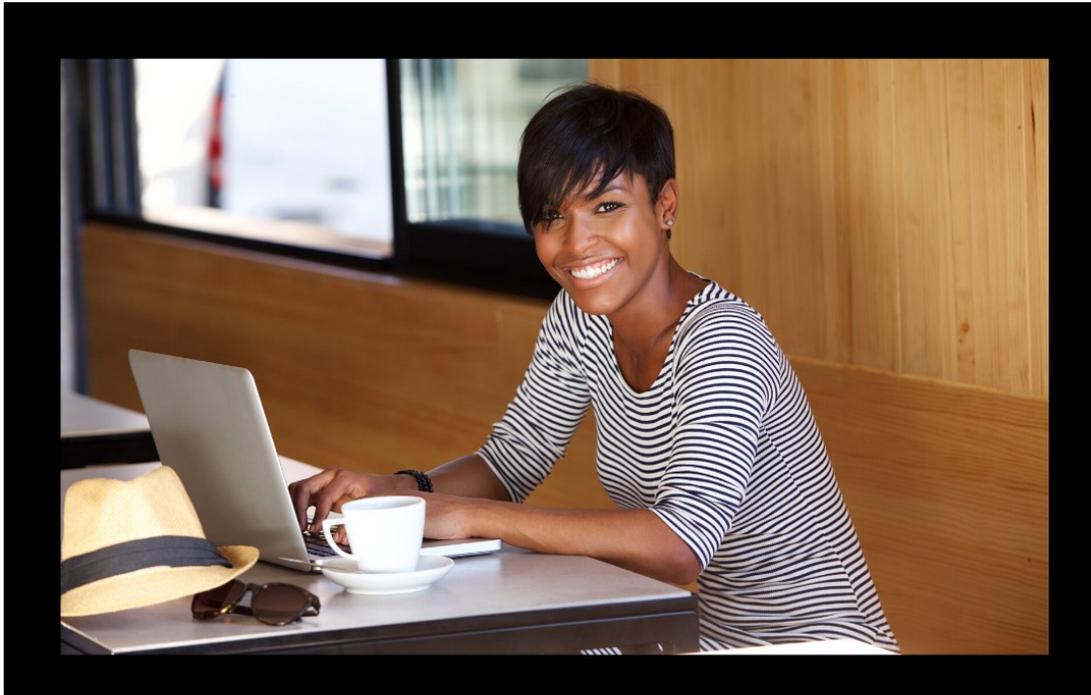

We constantly hear talks about credit reports, credit scores, credit freezes and credit monitoring. But what does it all really mean? Your credit matters, and will affect your ability to live and work comfortably once outside fully opens. It will certainly not look the same, however, you will want to work on your financial foundation as our new normal will begin. Are you fully prepared?

Here are the 3 things that you can do....

1. Order A Copy Of Your Credit Report. This has become an easy task as you are entitled to a free copy of your credit report from Annualcreditreport.com from the three major credit bureaus : Experian, Equifax and TransUnion. As of right now, this is good until April 2021. Make sure to check your reports for errors and be prepared to dispute any inaccurate information. Although credit bureaus have regularly had errors, they are now at an all time high of inaccurate reporting. It is important to review your reports at least once a month to ensure that you are not a victim and your credit report does not suffer.
2. Call Your Lenders and See Programs They Offer. If you are having an issue with making your payments, reach out to the lenders and ask what programs do they have. Many lenders have programs that are catered to those who have been impacted by COVID-19. The names of these programs vary based on the company. They may be referred to as "relief" or "hardship" programs. I would recommend that you have a pen and paper handy to write down your options. It is important to ask the important questions of how will these arrangements affect your reporting to the bureaus. Will making these arrangements change the current contract? Request that the changes be sent to you in writing. Finally, be sure to take down the name of the agent that you spoke with and time of the call. This will be important in the event that you will need to use it in the future.
3. Check Your Credit Card Statements. I will invite you to get

Why you should get your business certified?

There are several reasons why you should get your business certified:

1. Some entities have purchasing goals. Only certified businesses can participate.
2. Certification adds legitimacy to your business. You have gone through a process that has determined that your business is owned and controlled by a minority, woman or disadvantaged business.
3. Certification can afford you loan and bonding opportunities. The State of Ohio has loan and bonding programs specifically for certified minority owned businesses.
4. Certification can be a marketing tool for your business. You can add your certifications to your marketing materials, business cards, website , etc. Many consumers like doing business with veteran, minority or woman owned businesses.
5. Certification can be used in the private sector. Many companies don't have a certifying program but in an effort to have supplier diversity, will accept the certifications from some governmental agencies.

Attend a class and learn how to get your business certified. Visit OHBDC.eventbrite.com for the upcoming class schedule.

How to Deduct Bad Debt

Every business owner faces collection challenges at some point in their businesses. Whether the amounts are large or small, when you're trying to grow your business, every dollar counts. Likewise, every dollar you don't get paid means either hours of hunting down the payment, writing it off as bad debt, or both.

To qualify as a bad debt in the eyes of the IRS, the debt must either have been created or acquired in your business, or closely related to your trade or business when it became partly or totally worthless.

Examples of bad debts include:

- Loans to clients and suppliers. Sometimes, a supplier or client will ask to get your services on credit or may need some money fronted to complete a deal. If you lend money to a client, supplier, employee or distributor for a business reason and you can't collect, you can consider the amount a bad debt.
- Goods sold and/or services rendered, but not yet paid for. If the goods or services have been recorded in your accounts receivable and you have tried to collect the amount due, the amount becomes a business bad debt.
- Debts of an insolvent partner. If your business partnership breaks up and one of your former partners turns out to be insolvent, you can claim the portion you have to pay of your partners' share as a bad debt.
- Debts of a client you put up a guarantee for. If you paid a portion of a debt to help a client and the client defaults on the loan, you can claim the bad debt only for the amount you paid.
- Sale of mortgaged property. If your mortgaged property is sold for less than the debt, the unpaid balance of the debt is a bad debt.

Remember, you can claim a business bad debt deduction only if the amount owed to you was included in your business's gross income or lent out of your cash. If you use an accrual method of accounting, you generally report income as you earn it. If you use the cash method of accounting, you generally report income when you receive payment. With the cash method, you generally cannot claim a bad debt deduction for unpaid wages, rents, fees, and similar items because you never included those amounts in income.

How long do you have to wait before knowing the debt is a bad one?

You must be able to prove the debt is worthless by showing you have taken reasonable steps to collect the debt. Keep records of every correspondence and collection attempt, and make sure the debt is recorded in your business's accounting system. If the debtor has entered into bankruptcy, make sure you keep documentation from the bankruptcy court.

Generally, you must claim a business bad debt in the same year the debt became worthless. If you have some partially worthless debts, you can use the Specific Charge-Off Method, which allows you to claim parts of the debt over several tax years if the debt's worthlessness is drawn out. There is also the Nonaccrual-Experience Method, for accounts receivable for services you performed in the fields of accounting, actuarial science, architecture, consulting, engineering, health, law, performing arts; or if your business meets the $5 million gross receipts test. For more on these methods, see the IRS website.

If you mistakenly forgot to deduct a bad debt on your tax return in the year it became worthless, you can file a claim for a credit or refund.

If the bad debt was worthless, you must file the claim by the latter of the following dates:

- 7 years from the date of your original return; or
- 2 years from the date you paid the tax.

If the claim is for a partially worthless bad debt, you must file the claim by the latter of the following dates:

- 3 years from the date you filed your original return; or
- 2 years from the date you paid the tax.

You have longer to file the claim if you were unable to file your taxes and submit the claim due to a physical or mental impairment.

a copy of your latest credit card statement. This includes the ones that you don't use often and do not carry a balance on. You want to make sure that you are aware of the terms of your cards as well as the limits that you have. Lenders have started reducing limits on credit cards without warning in an effort to prevent possible defaults. This could potentially cause an decrease in your credit score as your available credit will be affected. In the event that you determine that this has in fact happened to you, reach out to your credit card company and request for the limit to be restored.

send? Why are womens' athletic programs treated differently than mens' programs?

There are reports of female athletes and coaches protesting the disparities in accommodations, food, covid testing, and the swag bag given between the male and female participants of the NCAA's annual March basketball tournament.

This week South Carolina Dawn Staley used her voice and platform to call out the NCAA for its inequity at the women's tournament compared to the men's. She wrote on Instagram, "what we know now is that the NCAA's season-long messaging about 'togetherness' and 'equality' was about convenience and a soundbite for the moment created after the murder of George Floyd."

Every team here in San Antonio has earned and deserves at a minimum the same level of respect as the men. All the teams here dealt with the same issues as the men's teams this season, yet their "reward" is different.

Staley and Georgia coach Joni Taylor meet in the SEC Conference tournament championship earlier this month. It was the first time that two Black head coaches battled for a Power 5 title. "People say, 'You're making it a race thing.' It's not a race thing; it's an opportunity thing," Staley told USA TODAY Sports.

Of the 64 head coaches at the 2021 Women's Championships, only eight are Black women. The NCAA estimates 45% of Division I players are Black.

Legendary coach C. Vivian Stringer, the only women's coach to take three different schools to the Final Four Stringer counsels young Black assistants to be wary of being labeled just as "recruiters." "Our Black youngsters need to see you at the game," she'd chide coaches. "We're not just recruiters." "I resent that, when they don't give us credit for being bright and smart enough to be able to direct a program," Stringer said.

Just my thoughts...rwb

*To the litigious: The First Amendment protects several basic freedoms in the United States including freedom of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, the right to assemble, and the right to petition the government. It was part of the Bill of Rights that was added to the Constitution on December 15, 1791. The U.S. Constitution applies to Black Americans as well.
